The Affordable Connectivity Program is offered by the Federal Communications Commission to help families with low income obtain affordable, quality, reliable internet access. It provides a discount of up to $30 per month for internet service, a discount of up to $75 per month for internet service for households on qualifying tribal lands, and a one-time discount of up to $100 for a laptop, desktop computer or tablet from a participating provider.

The San Diego Housing Commission's (SDHC) Digital Inclusion Project helps address the "digital divide" between households with access to technology and the internet and those who do not have access. The project's initiative's include raising awareness about the Affordable Connectivity Program.

For more information about additional resources to help connect to the internet, call 619-578-7783.
